

New Dermal Fillers

The next generation of dermal fillers has arrived

Dr Nair and Dr Evans have been using the new third generation of Hyaluronic acid dermal filler. One of these is called Esthelis®.

Esthelis® shares similar properties to Restylane® and Juvederm® with the added benefit of being extremely soft. This allows the product to be injected very superficially and therefore it is useful in treating fine lines such as those on the top lip giving a soft finish and a more natural lip.

The availability of the newer dermal fillers and the release of the volumiser filler Restylane Sub Q® has added a new dimension to facial sculpting and volumising to the midface to give a more natural result with minimal downtime.

Midface Rejuvenation , new methods and techniques to improve cheekbones

The importance of midface rejuvenation has been recognised over the last decade. Dr Evans and Dr Nair have been actively researching these new methods to offer a number of different surgical and non surgical treatment options at Shire Cosmetic Medicine.

The simplest treatment involves building up the volume of the cheeks and cheekbones with injectable dermal fillers such as Juvederm® plus, Restylane® or the new volumiser Restylane Sub Q®.

The use of dermal fillers is highly successful and a very popular choice due to the immediate effects and the minimal down time with patients usually being able to resume normal activities within the next day.

Alternatively, for those patients looking for a more permanent option, Dr Evans can offer the surgical treatment of cheek implants or endoscopic midface lifting. These typically require one weeks down time.
